

Rockingham County Home Underhill Wing

As general contractors for this project, Brookstone Builders coordinated and completed a two-phase expansion for Rockingham County of NH, which involved the complete renovation and structural reinforcement of the circa 1900 Underhill Wing of the county Nursing Home campus in Brentwood, New Hampshire.

The Ernest p. Barka Assisted Living Community is now a residential care facility located in the Underhill Wing of the Rockingham County Nursing Home campus.

This residential care community is operated as a part of the County's long-term care service which provides a home-like environment to County residents who need a limited amount of assistance in their daily activities, but who do not need the level of care provided in a nursing home setting. A grand opening ceremony for the Ernest P. Barka Assisted Living Community took place upon the project's completion, as the facility was named after the Vice Chairman of the Rockingham County Board of Commissioners.

This new residential care facility is located in a building that had been vacant for sometime. The restoration has made private and semi-private living options available to County residents in need of a level of care beyond that normally obtainable in their independent homes. Aside from medical and therapeutic services, amenities include a resident dining room with atrium, country kitchens where residents can prepare their own meals, a library, laundry facilities, family rooms and an outdoor patio.
